4. The Purpose of the Round Table – discussion:

The purpose of a round table for parent carers is to create a supportive and collaborative space where members can share experiences, voice concerns, and discuss challenges their members face in caring for their children and young people. It allows parents to connect with professionals, service providers, and each other to exchange insights, seek advice, and explore available support systems.

Key objectives of the round table include:

- Empowering Parent Carers: Providing parents with information, resources, and strategies to enhance the caregiving journey of their members.
- Encouraging Open Dialogue: Offering a platform for honest discussions about difficulties, successes, and needs.
- Strengthening Support Networks: Building connections among parents and professionals to foster a community of mutual support, leading to effective co production.
- Informing Policy and Services: Gathering insights that can influence decision-making, ensuring that services better meet the needs of parent carers and their families. Ultimately, the round table aims to enhance the well-being of both parent carers and their children and young people by fostering collaboration, advocacy, and shared learning.
